Mayor's Message

Jon Nehring,
Mayor

I am pleased to present the 2013 Spring/Summer Marysville Parks and Recreation Activities Guide, the only guidebook you will need this season for ideas to stay active, feel great and have fun here in our Marysville parks.

The journey to healthful living starts with a single step. Get an early jump now. Start planning how you and your family can get the most fun out of the many activities, programs and opportunities provided through Marysville Parks and Recreation. We have plenty to offer.

Your Parks and Recreation Director, staff and crew have put together an unbeatable series of spring/summer classes and community activities to ensure you won't have to look far to find something fun that appeals to your creative or adventurous side.

Don't miss the 5th Annual Healthy Communities Challenge Day on Saturday, June 1 at Allen Creek Elementary. Enjoy our Thursday night series of outdoor summer concerts or Saturday Popcorn in the Park movies under the stars, or many of our other events sure to make this summer a memorable one for you, your family and friends.

Be good stewards of your parks. Help us keep them clean by picking up and packing out garbage so that everyone can enjoy them. Pick up after your pets. Report graffiti or suspicious activity to ensure enjoyment and safety for you, your family, and other park visitors.

We all share in the responsibility of seeing to it that our community is a clean, safe and fun place worth enjoying and visiting.

Experience Marysville: Live, Work, PLAY!

Director's Message

Jim Ballew,
Parks & Recreation Director

Ah, Spring! This is the time of year we appreciate our many parks and open spaces and become inspired to enjoy our community. The awakening of the outdoors and the blooming of trees and flowers unlock our spirits and visitation to our parks begins. We have been preparing for your arrival and encourage you to visit often. Your parks and recreation department staff have been preparing parks and have developed a great menu of classes, camps, activities and opportunities for your involvement this season.

I invite you to acquaint yourself with our park system and become an active patron of our facilities as they belong to you. The city has over 430 acres of park lands for public use that vary from active athletic opportunities at Strawberry Fields to a passive walk through forested trails at Deering Wildflower Acres.

A new Marysville Community Parks Foundation has been created this year to assist in seeking funding support for the development of new parks and refurbishing existing facilities. I invite you to visit our Facebook page for information to become involved in the support of your parks for the future.

In closing, I would like to pass on some great words of inspiration that have been adopted by our team at Parks and Recreation of professionals that have truly moved us to look to the future in providing park and recreation services for you. I share this as a rallying theme as we each have a responsibility to keep our public facilities safe, clean and in great condition to share with others.

We Are All Land Managers.

Park Board's Message

Mike Elmore,
Park Board Chair

With spring and summer approaching, I want to take this opportunity to thank Jim Ballew and the great, hard working staff in the Marysville Parks and Recreation Department for their wonderful job ensuring that every resident has an opportunity to experience outstanding recreational activities and park facilities.

I have been honored to serve on the Park Board for more than 15 years. In that time, the Parks and Recreation team has created an extensive parks and recreation system that offers a wonderful mix of community, neighborhood and regional parks, natural areas and open spaces, trail, recreational facilities and year-round recreational activities. Volunteers serving on the Park Board are duly proud to have shared in the process of bringing these community assets to you.

Your Park workers do amazing things with minimal resources, keeping parks and grounds looking good, and programs and activities humming along.

I thank them for all their efforts, and invite you to do the same by getting out and enjoying a park, an event, class or recreational activity with family and friends.

In today's hectic world, it's easy to forget that taking time out to enjoy each day is important to our health and well-being.

Instructor SPOTLIGHT

Meet Ms. Mo Dance Instructor

In six years of teaching, Ms. Mo (aka Monica Olason) has taught everything from ballet to tumbling, sharing her passion for dance with all her students.

"I started dancing at the age of three and have continued ever since," Ms. Mo said. "I decided to start teaching because I wanted to teach my daughter the love of dance and wasn't able to find classes that fit our schedule."

Through her classes, students have learned to tap, jazz, and plié with Ms. Mo's guidance. She says the most rewarding part is to watch her students improve, "I enjoy all my classes, and especially love to see the kids blossom."

Whenever Ms. Mo is not teaching or dancing, she enjoys spending time on the family boat, exploring islands in the Northwest.

Instructor SPOTLIGHT

Meet Suzanne Barrett Zumba Instructor

Suzanne Barrett has been teaching Zumba for 4 years and enjoys the variety of dance it incorporates. "I have dancing in my blood, just something that is part of me. When I discovered Zumba five years ago I was hooked," she said. Suzanne spent the summer teaching Zumba outside in Jennings Park and ZumbAtomic for kids. "My goal is to help people reach their fitness goals and encourage them to get healthy and dance."

Zumba & Zumba Toning

Ditch the workout and join the party with Zumba and Zumba Toning! Have a blast while working out on Tuesdays with Zumba, then raise the bar with Zumba Toning on Thursdays. When it comes to body sculpting, Zumba Toning raises the bar (or rather, the toning stick). It combines targeted body-sculpting exercises and high-energy cardio work with Latin-infused Zumba moves to create a calorie-torching, strength-training dance fitness party. Students learn to use lightweight, maraca-like Toning Sticks to enhance rhythm and tone their target zones like arms, abs, glutes and thighs. Zumba Toning is a perfect way to sculpt your body naturally while having a blast. Optional materials available to buy at class.

Instructor SPOTLIGHT

Meet Daniel Jolly Photography Instructor

Ever wanted to take pictures like an expert? Come learn from an expert! Daniel Jolly has been working with photography since he started at Clear Image during his college years. Many years later, Daniel runs two businesses and has 3 children, but still finds time to teach classes with Marysville Parks and Recreation.

Daniel started teaching because he felt there was a need for this type of information. "My favorite is probably the Photo-shop class because of all the 'wows' I get, but the DSLR class is by far the most popular. So many people have digital SLR cameras and don't know how to use them." His students learn how to use Photoshop, operate a DSLR, and take spectacular photos with a basic point & shoot camera.

Photography Basics & Your Point and Shot Camera

Photographer Daniel Jolly of Clear Image teaches this basic photography course. Understand how to use your different camera settings to get the best possible shot. Know how your camera thinks so you can manipulate it and have better control over your image. Bring your own camera (and manual if you have it) for hands on help and lots of tips. We will also touch on the basics of photography, and how to implement them with a point and shoot camera.

Marysville Pilchuck Arts and Tech students assist in Course Drainage Plan

Golfers will delight in the several drainage improvements made this season at Cedarcrest. Stay tuned for additional improvements thanks to collaborations between the MPHS Arts and Tech students, staff and Cedarcrest through a coordinated STEM project. A STEM project is also known as a Science Technology, Engineering and Mathematics Project.

Students have been working with existing drainage plans and integrating drawings utilizing Google Earth technology providing course staff accurate data on active or failed drain systems. By use of electronic metering probes from the robotics class, the city will receive data on drainage volumes in certain areas of focus.

"The STEM project is expected to generate affordable alternatives utilizing local students and educators in a learning environment that will provide great rewards to all involved" stated Parks Maintenance Manager Mike Robinson.

Spring cleaning time is just around the corner.

The City of Marysville is partnering again with various local businesses, churches and nonprofit groups for Community Clean Sweep Week April 20-27, a weeklong celebration of free activities to help residents and businesses get their spring cleaning off on the right foot.

By participating or volunteering to join in Clean Sweep activities to spruce up your own homes, property or neighborhood, you will also be giving the same tender-loving care to your community and its ongoing beautification campaign.

You're invited to join in on these and other volunteer activities on tap during Clean Sweep Week, including:

- ◆ Painting over graffiti
- ◆ Shred-a-Thon
- ◆ Earth Day celebration, and
- ◆ Several street-side litter control cleanups, pressure-washing and other tasks.

This year, City Public Works and Parks crews, working with Waste Management NW, will be deploying for at least one neighborhood-wide cleanup during Clean Sweep Week, similar to

April 20-27, 2013 Marysville Community CLEAN SWEEP WEEK

Calling all Volunteers!

efforts targeting downtown last year that included removing large, unsightly debris visible from properties - at risk of facing code violations - needing a hand with removal.

The City Council budgeted funds for multiple cleanup activities in 2013. City leaders are currently reviewing potential location in south, central and north Marysville. For more Clean Sweep Week information, visit the City website at marysvillewa.gov in the coming weeks, watch Marysville cable access stations and look for details in local news media.

Parks Maintenance Team the good stewards behind first-rate park system

At the crack of dawn, the crew of the Marysville Parks and Recreation Department rise up and go to work. From 6:30 in the morning to three in the afternoon, Parks maintenance crew members set to the seemingly daunting task of maintaining the City of Marysville, its parks and various other facilities.

With more than 400 acres of parks, trails and open space, it's a demanding task for just five workers, but they are up to the challenge for a job they enjoy.

While the maintenance crew is small in number, they are deep in experience and talent. Park Maintenance Manager Mike Robinson described their most senior member, Allen Backstrom, as having 26 years of experience. Robinson himself has 24.

Park workers have experience in park maintenance, public works maintenance, horticulture, and golf maintenance. The variety of training and skill sets comes in handy for the workers at Parks and Recreation. Come summer, Robinson says they plan on bringing aboard five seasonal workers.

There are no "slow" periods, either. Spring and summer tasks are what most people would imagine when they think about what a parks maintenance worker does. Robinson describes their spring tasks as "a lot of turf maintenance and mowing, weeding and weed eating, caring for landscapes, that kind of thing."

Another warmer climate tasks include maintenance of fields and athletic facilities. Parks and Recreation works in cooperation with the school district to help maintain and prepare the fields for athletic programs such as soccer or softball.

When winter comes, the department busily prepares for the holiday season. Parks and Recreation handles the light displays in the city parks and other city facilities. They also assist the golf course with their annual Holiday Tour of Lights event. Aside from the holidays, athletics, and regular maintenance, Parks and Recreation also support all city-wide and park events. The Fishing Derby and the Easter Egg Hunt in Jennings Memorial Park are some activities that Robinson listed as their having involvement in.

Parks reaches out to help outside organizations. Examples include the Boy Scouts Christmas tree recycling program, which helps the Scouts financially, and creates mulch to spreads in parks and trails, Eagle Scouts, church groups and service clubs.

Park Maintenance Worker Eddie Phelps, a 13-year veteran, says his favorite part of the job is getting the sports fields ready for their seasons. "Most of the group's passions lie in our work on the baseball, soccer, and football fields."

Another favorite part of the job and sense of pride for Phelps and the crew is sprucing up Jennings Park and making it look nice, as it's what people see most. "With a much cleaner entry into the park, and a beautiful pond, we get plenty of praise."

Praise comes from Parks & Recreation Director Jim Ballew too for the crew's hard work and dedication.

"Mike and the team continue day in and day out to provide excellent service, and it's visible in the parks where you recreate, the trails you walk and ball fields where you play," says Ballew. "They keep the parks and park facilities looking great and in shape."

"Our thing with park maintenance is that we get here early, get our work done, try to stay out of peoples' way when they come and have a great park experience and enjoy the day. That's what we get excited about."

Parks Maintenance Worker Allen Backstrom helps Allen Creek Elementary students plant trees at Jennings Park for Arbor Day.

Below, Parks crew members install playground equipment at Shasta Ridge Park in southeast Marysville.

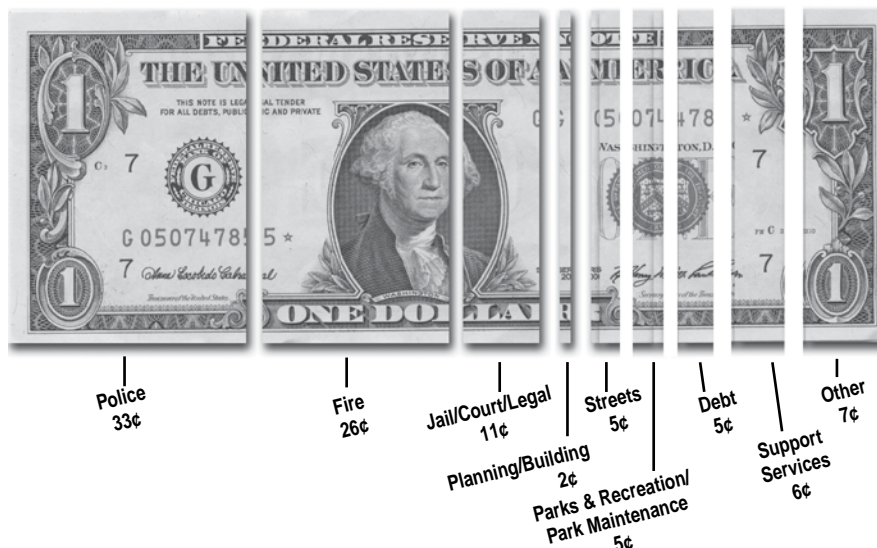

Marysville citizens, families and groups contributed 4,434 volunteer hours in 2012 working with Marysville Parks and Recreation through various activities and projects, generating the equivalent of $93,158 in added value to the City. With limited tax dollars, volunteers are more than their share making a difference in our community.

What do you get for your tax dollar?

Did you know that your average property tax bill pays the City of Marysville $48 per month.

You get a lot for every one of those dollars. For about the same cost as a monthly phone or cell phone bill, you get 24-hour police and fire protection, streets and signals, business and job development, attractive parks and popular recreation services, and you get it from a City government with one of the lowest Employees-per-Citizens ratio.

You're invited to Downtown Revitalization public meeting to share ideas for reshaping downtown

The City of Marysville invites you to a special public meeting to share your downtown and waterfront revitalization ideas for how to create a more vibrant, pedestrian-friendly downtown.

Marysville University will provide the setting for an open house from 6:30-8:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 10 in the City Council Chambers, 2nd Floor in City Hall, 1049 State Ave.

The evening will include a review of revitalization measures to date, recommendations, and interactive "pulse pad" voting that will allow instant feedback and results from attendees to share new ideas and prioritize existing ideas.

"How revitalization evolves must come from and belong to all citizens and business owners in our community," Mayor Jon Nehring says. "We're here to listen."

The City Council committed $150,000 for downtown revitalization efforts and a public engagement process.

Some funds were used to hire a consultant team to work with City leaders. The group met in January with a key City staff team for workshops to define a development strategy for Marysville's waterfront to give the City Council confidence to move forward with next steps. The group recommended creating a complete community downtown built around multi-story housing, mixed uses, with access to social and recreational opportunities such as:

- Neighborhood dining
- "Outdoor rooms," reflective of how more people today can work anywhere because of technology and mobile devices
- Water features (fountains, canals, lakes)
- Open space, and
- Narrow streets that are pedestrian and bicycle-friendly.

Some ideas generated thus far have included sidewalk and street improvements for better walkability, gateway improvements and wayfinding signage, matching funds for building exterior improvements, a spray park, kayaking facility, Qwuloolt trail design and modest traffic and landscaping improvements.

Kamille Norton serving as newest City Councilmember

After hearing from nine quality candidates Feb. 25 who shared the assets they would bring to local government, the Marysville City Council unanimously selected Civil Service Commissioner Kamille Norton to fill a vacancy on the Council. Norton was immediately sworn into office by Mayor Jon Nehring, and took the empty chair at the end of the dais that became vacant when Carmen Rasmussen stepped down.

Norton says she was elated by the vote of confidence, and looks forward to working with the Mayor and Council.

"The Mayor and Council have been doing a commendable job of managing the change and growth in a difficult economic climate, while seeking the best interests of the City and its citizens," says Norton. "I'm happy that I'll be able to be a part of the efforts to build a better future for our city."

Norton

Norton says she is passionate about bringing economic development to Marysville and preserving the community's great quality of life, owing in part to the many parks and family recreational activities enjoyed by the 12-year resident and her four children. Among her activities the past 11 years, she has served as a Committee Chair for Allen Creek Elementary PTSA, Director and Founder of Marysville Select Girls Basketball, and activities coordinator with her church. Norton has served on the Marysville Salary Commission, both since 2007.
